Methodologies

	Description
Introductory activities	One hour session with group A (the whole class) at the beginning of the course. The objectives and contents of the subject will be explained, as well as the methodology and the evaluation system applied. The resources and tools for online learning will also be presented.
Project based learning	Throughout the course, the teacher will propose a minimum of four group projects to be carried out in French by each student. The dates of the projects and their oral presentation will be established by the teacher at the beginning of the course. The teacher will guide the students to carry out these projects preferably in the hours with B groups and using the learning platform.
Problem solving	The teacher will help students to carry out the projects by proposing communicative tasks focused, on the one hand, on the practice of expression and comprehension, and, on the other hand, on the reinforcement of skills in phonetics, vocabulary and grammar. Additional online activities and challenges will also be proposed.

Personalized assistance

Methodologies	Description
Project based learning	One-to-one assistance will be provided in different ways: 1. During the tuition schedule detailed by the teacher in the course presentation. Students must previously make an appointment with the teacher within this schedule and via email. In these tuitions students will be able to solve doubts, make suggestions and reinforce practical aspects of the subject with the teacher. The teacher will not attend students without previous appointment or beyond the established schedule. 2. Through the learning platform 3. Through videoconference (previous appointment) or e-mail.

Assessment

Description	Qualification	Training and Learning Results

Project based learning	Throughout the course students must complete a minimum of four group projects related to the contents for the subject. Each project will be presented orally in the classroom and submitted on the learning platform. Groups will have ten minutes to present their projects in French and they may use all the technical means available at the faculty. Presentations will be evaluated by the teacher according to an assessment rubric whose criteria and scale will be available on the learning platform. In any case, all the groups will be created randomly by the teacher. All projects proposed must be completed by the students within the time and conditions agreed with the class in order to ensure their evaluation at the first call.	80	B1 C5 D1 B2 C6 D2 B3 C8 D3 B4 C13 D4 B5 C21 D5 B6 C22 D6 B7 C28 D7 B8 C29 D8 B9 C30 D9 B10 C40 D10 B11 C41 D11 B12 C42 D12 C43 D13 C44 D14 C45 D15 C46 D16 C47 D17 C48 D18 C49 D19 C50 D20 C51 D21 C52 D22 C54 C55 C56 C57 C59 C60 C61 C62 C63 C64 C65 C66
Problem solving	Throughout the course, the teacher will propose a minimum of ten voluntary challenges and, after evaluation, will assign the students awards with a certain score on the final grade. The instructions for the challenges, their value in the final grade and the criteria for obtaining them will be detailed on the learning platform.	20	C43 D1 C44 D2 C45 D3 C46 D4 C48 D5 C49 D6 D7 D8 D10 D12 D13 D14 D15 D16 D17 D19

Other comments on the Evaluation

Evaluation dates and deadlines are displayed on the learning platform as well as on the faculty's website.

First call evaluation

Classroom-based evaluation

Students must complete and present all the projects proposed by the teacher. The final grade will be calculated by adding up the grades obtained in each compulsory project and each voluntary challenge. Each project will be assessed for a maximum of two points on the final mark and each voluntary challenge will be assessed for a maximum of 0.2 points.

Non-classroom-based assessment

Students who cannot or do not wish to attend class must ask the teacher to do the non-classroom-based evaluation within the first month of class. This evaluation will consist of a written examination on 100% of the content covered by the classroom projects. Students will be required to take an examination to assess their listening and writing skills (each of which will count for a maximum of 2 points), as well as their writing skills. On that day, students must also take another examination on speaking skills. Each examination on expression will be graded from 0 to 3 points according to a rubric, whose criteria and scale will be agreed in the classroom. The sum of these four examinations will constitute 100% of the final grade of the subject. Students must take these four examinations on the date established by the school in order to be assessed.

Students with special educational needs (SEN)

Students with special educational needs due to specific learning difficulties may need an adaptation of the evaluation system. This adaptation has to be designed by both the teacher and the students involved with the aim of ensuring that all the necessary means are available for students with SEN to show evidence of their achievement of the course objectives.

Second call evaluation

Students who will not attend any evaluation (classroom-based or non-classroom-based) at the first call will be evaluated as no-shows. Those who will not pass the course in the first call will be evaluated at the second call. At the second call, the work done at the first call will not be taken into account.

Students who will attend the second call will have to take a written examination on 100% of the contents covered by the classroom projects. Students will be required to take an examination to assess their listening and writing skills (each of which will count for a maximum of 2 points), as well as their writing skills. On that day, students must also take another examination on speaking skills. Each examination on expression will be graded from 0 to 3 points according to a rubric, whose criteria and scale will be agreed in the classroom. The sum of these four examinations will constitute 100% of the final grade of the subject. Students must take these four examinations on the date established by the school in order to be assessed.

Working languages

The working languages of the course will be French, Galician, Spanish and exceptionally English. The teacher will communicate with the students at all times, both orally and in writing, preferably in French. Unless the teacher gives other instructions, students may use any of the working languages. However, the commitment to use French will be taken into account positively in the final evaluation. Examination questions will be written in French only. Students from international mobility programmes may receive support in English upon request.

The use of automatic translators in any learning activity of this course, as well as to communicate with the teacher, is not allowed. Repeated use of machine translation in a project or in an examination may constitute an invalidation.

Contingency plan

Description

=== EXCEPTIONAL PLANNING ===

Given the uncertain and unpredictable evolution of the health alert caused by COVID-19, the University of Vigo establishes an extraordinary planning that will be activated when the administrations and the institution itself determine it, considering safety, health and responsibility criteria both in distance and blended learning. These already planned measures guarantee, at the required time, the development of teaching in a more agile and effective way, as it is known in advance (or well in advance) by the students and teachers through the standardized tool.

=== ADAPTATION OF THE METHODOLOGIES ===

No adaptation of the course contents is required, as all of them can be addressed in a non classroom-based context. The teaching methodologies, already based on the synchronous use of collaborative digital spaces, do not require modifications either. Online classes will be carried out by videoconference on the remote campus at the times scheduled for classroom-based classes whenever possible.

Tutoring sessions will preferably be ensured by videoconference, although it is also possible to contact the teacher by e-mail or by phone. Several references from the recommended literature are available in digital format. Students interested in consulting them are invited to contact the teacher.

=== ADAPTATION OF THE EVALUATION ===

The evaluation system foreseen for the different calls is maintained in a non-classroom-based environment. The examinations for non-classroom-based or second call evaluation will be carried out via the learning platform and the remote campus at the date and time scheduled by the faculty. The oral expression examinations will require the recording of audio files by the students.
