	Description
Lecturing	Lectures will be held in French with the whole class, in group A hours. In them, the teacher and the students will work on the essential concepts related to the different topics of the course and necessary for the development of the projects. The teacher will also provide literature and other useful resources for students to find further information.

Project based learning	Throughout the course, the teacher will propose three projects to be presented orally on the dates indicated at the beginning of the course. All the projects will be group-based and the instructions for their completion will be detailed on the learning platform. In class, the teacher will guide the students to carry out their projects by means of collaborative group tasks.

Problem solving	In B-group sessions, students will complete a series of group tasks in digital collaborative spaces so they can work on different aspects related to the projects in progress.
Debate	Discussion will preferably take place during C-group sessions. Students will have to provide answers and ideas about the issues raised in the lectures, although digital meetings with some experts can also be scheduled. If needed, discussion sessions can also be used to reinforce linguistic or digital skills.

Assessment

Description	Qualification	Training and Learning Results
-------------	---------------	-------------------------------

Project based learning	On the dates agreed in class, students must present in French the outcomes of their group projects which must be submitted to the learning platform. Students must complete three learning projects proposed during the course in order to be assessed in the first call. Each work group will have 10 minutes and will be able to use the technical means that the faculty puts at their disposal. Presentations will be evaluated by the teacher according to a rubric whose criteria and scales will be available on the learning platform. In any case, groups will be created randomly by the teacher.	25	B1 B2 B3 B5 B6 B8 B10 C11 C13 C16 C34 C43 C45 C48 C50 C51 C52 C62 C63 C65 D1 D2 D3 D4 D7 D9 D12 D13 D15 D16 D17 D19 D20 D21

Other comments on the Evaluation

Evaluation dates and deadlines are displayed on the learning platform as well as on the faculty's website.

First call evaluation

Continuous assessment

Students must complete and present all the projects proposed by the teacher. The final grade will be calculated by adding up the grades obtained in each compulsory project and each voluntary challenge. Each project will be assessed for a maximum of 2,5 points on the final mark and each voluntary challenge will be assessed for a maximum of 0.25 points.

Final assessment

Students who cannot or do not wish to complete de continuous assessment must ask the teacher to take the final assessment within the first month of class. This evaluation will consist of a written examination on 100% of the content covered by the classroom projects. The examination will be held on the official date set by the faculty. It will be graded from 0 to 10 and will have different tasks where the students' oral and written comprehension in French will be assessed, as well as their oral and written expression. The examination type and the evaluation tools used by the teacher will be available on the learning platform.

Students with special educational needs (SEN)

Students with special educational needs due to specific learning difficulties may need an adaptation of the evaluation system. This adaptation has to be designed by both the teacher and the students involved with the aim of ensuring that all the necessary means are available for students with SEN to show evidence of their achievement of the course objectives.

Second call evaluation

Students who will not attend any evaluation (continuous or final) at the first call will be evaluated as no-shows. Those who will not pass the course in the first call will be evaluated at the second call. At the second call, the work done at the first call will not be taken into account.

Students who will attend the second call will have to take a written examination on 100% of the contents covered by the classroom projects. The examination will be held on the official date set by the faculty. It will be graded from 0 to 10 and will have different tasks where the students' oral and written comprehension in French will be assessed, as well as their oral and written expression. The examination type and the evaluation tools used by the teacher will be available on the learning platform.

Working languages

The working languages of the course will be French, Galician, Spanish and exceptionally English. The teacher will communicate with the students at all times, both orally and in writing, preferably in French. Unless the teacher gives other instructions, students may use any of the working languages. However, the commitment to use French will be taken into account positively in the final evaluation. Examination questions will be written in French only. Students from international mobility programmes may receive support in English upon request.

The use of automatic translators in any learning activity of this course, as well as to communicate with the teacher, is not allowed. Its repeated use in a project or in an examination may constitute an invalidation.
