Other comments on the Evaluation

The tests of the system of continuous assessment of student learning will be based on a combination of some of the following methodologies: written or oral exams, work presented and academically directed, with respect to the contents of the subject, carrying out different types of practices and active participation of students in theory classes, practices, seminars, workshops and other activities related to the subject.

The continuous assessment tests, both face-to-face and online, will always be carried out within the timetable assigned to the classrooms of the subject. In the event of insufficient resources, the teaching staff responsible for the subject, through the subject, course and degree coordinators, will be able to articulate planning mechanisms that guarantee the best adjustment of the timetable for carrying out the assessment tests. This will be notified sufficiently in advance to the students involved through the subject timetables established by the degree coordinators. In any case, the aforementioned hours will be counted as part of the teaching hours of the subject. This modality may also include a final exam, understood as the one that has to be taken on the official exam date for each assessment opportunity.

Given that class attendance is a student's right, as stated in the Statutes of the University of Vigo, but at the same time it is a fundamental element of the teaching-learning process, it may be assessed as another factor in the student assessment processes in the continuous assessment mode. The accreditation data of such attendance shall be kept and students shall be notified in the same way as for other qualifications.

Attendance at practical sessions is compulsory for students in the continuous assessment mode and absences without documentary justification will be taken into account in the final mark. Each absence in the practical sessions of the subject subtracts 0.25 points from the final mark unless the student provides official written justification. For these purposes, the following will be considered as justified causes:

- The taking of exams, official assessment tests or selective tests in the Administration that are justified by the accreditation of the assessing body.
- The presence in collegiate bodies and commissions derived from these by the elected representatives of the student body, accredited by the presidency or secretariat of the aforementioned body or commission. As well as the representation of the University of Vigo in the bodies where it is present.
- Admission to hospital centres or scheduled medical consultations accredited by the medical centre or doctor involved.
- Illness or medical leave that prevents physical presence at the centre, accredited by the medical centre or doctor involved.

- e. The serious illness or death of a family member, up to the 3rd degree, duly accredited.
- f. The performance of a public duty, duly accredited.
- g. Limited mobility due to inclement weather or any other duly accredited emergency, or the declaration of an alert, alarm or exception, decreed by a competent public administration in the territory of the University of Vigo, which limits mobility or advises against it.
- h. Strike or authorised academic stoppage, duly accredited.
- i. Participation as an athlete in the cases set out in the University of Vigo Student Athlete Statute.
- j. Any other supervening cause.

In the global evaluation system, non-attendance to the classrooms will not have a negative impact on the grade nor will it be a mandatory requirement. In the case of requesting the global assessment, the student may be assessed for practicals even if he/she does not attend them, as long as they are not of a clinical/experimental nature, as in the subjects "External practicals" or "Practicum" of any degree.

In the laboratory practicals, the presentation of the proposed tasks in due time and form and their adequacy to the explanations given in the theoretical sessions and in the laboratory practicals will be assessed.

It is possible to carry out complementary work, always in agreement with the teacher, which will serve to improve the mark obtained.
