Lecturing	Exhibition by the lecturer of the contents of the subject, theoretical bases and/or guidelines for doing a work, exercise or project to develop by the students. Teaching pills and videconference
December of the formation	class sessions are part of this methodology.
Programmed Instruction	Teaching material provided to students that involves reading specialized scientific-technical documentation and that cannot be traced back to the master class methodology.
Problem solving	Activity in which problems and/or exercises related to the subject are formulated. It is usually used as a complement to the master class
Case studies	Method through which students learn to apply the appropriate legal rules to solve certain practical problems. Students must choose the correct rules and interpret them properly, for each particular situation. This contributes to show the practical importance of the subject, and helps students to develop the understanding of legal texts
Autonomous problem solving	Students are at the centre of learning, being able to solve certain problems or challenges autonomously. Professors support students on the path to the solution, as a guide or supervisor
Discussion Forum	Spaces for academic discussions that contribute to the development of the strategic critical thinking form dialogue. The professor facilitates, advises and guides to the students so that they know how to work with the appropriate sources of information.

Other comments on the Evaluation

The program included in this guide ("Contents") is a short version of the complete program which will be object of the assessment and deliver to the students when the course will start.

First call: 1.- At the beginning of the course, the students must communicate if the are going to follow the continuous assessment process. To that aim, it would be necessary to send a binding signed document.

2.-The students that follow the continuous assessment process shall be evaluated according to the previous criteria: final exam (60%), objective examination of questions (20%) and case studies (20%). In the final exam, the theoretical exam will carry a weight of 80% and the practical exam will carry a weight of 20%. It is necessary to achieve 4 out of 10 points in the exam in order to take into account the qualifications obtained under the continuous assessment process. If the students do not reach the minimum score, their final qualification will be the exam result.

- 3.- The students that do not follow the continuous assessment process shall be graded in the following way: theoretical exam (70%) and practical exam (30%). This final exam will be different that the exam carried out by the students that follow the continuous assessment process.
- 4.- The final exam will be held on the date and time indicated in the exam calendar for the 2022/2023 academic year, approved by the Faculty Board. The exam will be done using both Moovi platform and Campus Remoto of the University of Vigo.

Second call:

- 1.- Students must pass a final written exam.
- 2.- Grades obtained by the students that followed the continuous assessment process will be taken into account. The final exam will represent the 60% of the final score, corresponding the remaining 40% with the qualification obtained through the "continuous evaluation" system. It is necessary to achieve 4 out of 10 points in the theoretical exam in order to take into account the qualifications obtained under the continuous assessment process. If the students do not obtained the minimum score, their final qualification will be the exam result.
- 3.- The students that do not follow the continuous assessment process shall be graded in the following way: theoretical exam (80%) and practical exam (20%). This final exam will be different that the exam carried out by the students that follow the continuous assessment process.
- 4.- Students who had followed the system of "continuous evaluation", and did not pass the subject at the first opportunity nor at the second one, are entitled to keep the qualification obtained through that system for the following academic year (2023-2024).
- 5.- The final exam will be held on the date and time indicated in the exam calendar for the 2022/2023 academic year, approved by the Faculty Board. The exam will be done using both Moovi platform and Campus Remoto of the University of Vigo.

FINAL CALL:

Students shall pass a one-off exam that consists of two parts: exam (70%) and written practical exam (30%).
